In recent years, Ukraine has developed a range of enticing organic products for its domestic market. However, the full-scale war has disrupted local supply chains, impacting both producers and the economy.

We hope that European retailers will consider featuring Ukrainian organic products, as successful initiatives in Denmark, Sweden, and France have already been launched by the Ukrainian State Institution "Entrepreneurship and Export Promotion Office".

We invite you to join this initiative and reach out to us for further details.

For retail chains keen on featuring Ukraine's organic offerings, please reach out to
