UKRAINIAN DAIRY SECTOR

Ukraine's dairy sector is developing its export potential, supported by growing supply of raw milk for processing in Ukraine and a gradual shift towards higher-value dairy products.

According to expert estimates, exports of dairy products in milk-equivalent terms increased by 19% in 2025 and exceeded 0.7 million tonnes, equivalent to approximately 20% of total raw milk delivered for processing. In value terms, exports rose by 35% and reached around US$460 million.

A notable trend is the gradual shift from commodity exports towards higher-value added products. Alongside established export categories such as butter and skimmed milk powder, Ukrainian companies are increasingly offering condensed milk, fresh and processed cheeses, packaged butter, ice cream, and other finished dairy products. In 2025, exports of finished dairy products to the EU were estimated at approximately US$52 million, accounting for around one-third of Ukraine's total dairy exports to the EU. The development of branded exports and cooperation with international retailers, including through private-label arrangements, further demonstrates the sector's growing capacity to meet the requirements of international markets.

The European Union remains one of the key destinations for Ukrainian dairy products. In 2025, the EU accounted for around 36% of Ukraine's dairy exports in monetary terms, while total revenue from supplies to the European Union reached nearly US$170 million. At the same time, Ukrainian companies are exploring and developing opportunities in other international markets, seeking to diversify their export destinations and build long-term business partnerships. Ukrainian dairy producers combine established production expertise with a growing focus on quality, innovation, product development, and compliance with international market requirements. This creates opportunities for cooperation across a broad range of dairy categories — from dairy ingredients and traditional products to innovative and value-added products.

This catalogue presents Ukrainian dairy companies and their products to international buyers and partners. It aims to facilitate new business contacts, promote Ukrainian dairy products in international markets, and support the development of sustainable, long-term trade partnerships.

EU-authorised production sites

As of September 2026, 70 Ukrainian dairy production sites are included in the official list of establishments authorised to export dairy products to the European Union.
